Coroner Wants Further Light Shed on Case at Today's Inquest.

A series of dramatic steps taken last night by the police department threatened to transform the common place first accounts of the death of John J. Grady on Wednesday morning into one of the criminal sensations of the year. The original explanation that Grady eported now to have been associated with one of the Capital's gambling establishments, died an accidental death was challenged by the following ets of law enforcement officials:

Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt postponed the inquest into Grady's death in order that additional and more satisfactory witnesses might be produced at a hearing today.

Headquarters detectives, under the eadership of Lieut. Edward Kelly, held Miss Vera Sawver, 28 years old, of 1614 Fourteenth street, in whose apartmen Grady was visiting at the time of his death, and Albert Green, 30 years old. of 934 New York avenue, on a charge of investigation in connection with the death of Grady.

It was definitely established last night that one reason for the police activity was the information given to its members that a fight preceded Grady's death and that the quarrel was linked with the recent gambling holdup Grady died as the result of hemorrhage of the brain and a skull fracture at Emergency Hospital early Wednesday morning. At the time investigating uthorities were told by Miss Sawyer Green and William Kappel, also of 934 New York avenue, that Grady's injuries were caused by a fall from a low vindow sill through the glass top of an air vent leading into the apartment of Mrs. Margaret Harwood, beneath

By this time the entire courtroom was in tears and Judge Normoyle was wiping the tears from his own eyes. Some of the jurors let the tears roll down their cheeks unheeded. Others were openly wiping them away.

The case went to the jury without further argument and within five minutes the jurors were back with the acquittal verdict. As it was read Falk slumped to the floor. Later, in the judge's chambers, Falk and his family were reunited but still were too overcome with emotion to talk. Shortly after he was acquitted he was released from the county jail and went home with his family, first thanking not only the jury but the prosecutors as well.

"The verdict," said Judge Normoyle. "was a very sensible one. It was the only one that could have been returned under the circumstances."

By ALBERT W. FOX.

President Coolidge yesterday re-lterated in unmistakable terms his opposition to Government operation or control of Muscle Shoals, or to the plan involved in the Madden bill which would commit the Government to the building of another dam. The President's position was made known so decisively that no action is expected at the coming short session of Congress on the Muscle Shoals project.

A congressional committee, header by Representative Edward B. Almon, of Alabama, and including Senator Black from that State, called on the President yesterday noon to ascertain the President's view. Mr. Almon had previously written to the President relative to this matter. There was no room for misunderstanding when Mr. Coolidge had concluded his brief statement defining his position.

The President explained that he had made inquiries relative to latest developments concerning Muscle Shoals, and this presumably included inquiry as to legislative projects held in readiness for the coming Congress.

The President said he did not wish to put the Government into the retail power and fertillizing business. He said he was not in favor of building another dam at public expense.

TILSON WILL SPEED BORAH COMES OUT CHANGES IN TARIFF FOR CRUISER BILL

Plans Being Made to Have Senator Also Will Endeavor to Have Kellogg Peace Treaty Ratified.

SOUTH EXPECTS RELIEF STRUGGLE IS EXPECTED

(United Press.)

Passage of the naval cruiser building bill in the Senate early in the coming session appeared more certain last night with an announcement by Senator Borah, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, a critic of the measure, that he would not oppose its early consideration.

March.

Majority Leader Tilson of the House flushed with his 6,000 majority in a district that had several Smith hotbeds, made known yesterday that he planned to confer Monday with Chairman Hawley of the House ways and means committee with a view to having the committee begin work on tariff revision immediately upon its return after the Christmas recess. Mr. Tilson assumes that there will be an extra session and he thinks there must be one. This bill, proposing construction of fifteen cru'sers of 10,000 tons and strongly urged by the administration as necessary to bring our Navy nearer to parity with Great Britain's has passed the House. Its passage in the Senate has been

Its passage in the Senate has been opposed by some strong supporters of the Kellogg antiwar treaty who regarded it as inconsistent for the United States to pass a large naval-building bill simultaneously with its ratification of what is described by many statesmen as the greatest step to end war that has ever been taken.

This clash of sentiment plus the rivalry of the antiwar treaty partisans and h - naval bill sponsors seemed likely for a time to create complications at the opening of the short session of Congress December 3. e one.

Although it took the committee sevral weeks to prepare the Fordney-Mctumber bill, of 1922, Mr. Tilson beleves that if it gets to work early he

This being the case it would not seem that the Democrats will have much tariff fight in them.

It remains to be seen, however, just what proportion of those candidates signing the agreement were actually elected. The likelihood is that it was very small.

The low-tariff members have been from the South. Virtually all of the Southern Democrats were reclected and but comparatively few others. So it might be that the agreement which Gov. Smith negotiated sheds little light on the attitude of those Democrats who will be in the House in the next Congress.

Conduit Citizens Demand His Return to Public Utilities Committee.

AID OF CLAYTON ASKED

George C. Havenner, president of the Federation of Cittzens Associa-tions, was criticized last night by members of the Conduit Road Citizens mbers of the Conduit Road Citizens octation at their monthly meeting having omitted the name of William A. Roberts from the public utilicommittee of the federation. The association unanimously adoptaresolution, which was much der in tone than the oral speeches the members, calling upon Havento restore Roberts to the committen public utilities. The resolution d:

"Resolved That the Conduit Road Citizens Association express its regret that the president of the Federation of Citizens Associations failed to 'in-clude and continue in the membership of the federation committee on public utilities Mr. William A. Roberts, whose untiring activities on that committee have reacted so beneficial to the people of the District and who y training is particularly fitted for rivice upon that committee."

Clyde S. Bailey, first vice president

Clyde S. Bailey, first vice president of the association introduced the resolution as well as another cailing upon William McK. Clayton, chairman of the public utilities committee, to use his influence with the president of the federation in having Roberts restored to the committee.

In discussing Roberts' removal from the committee, several of the members decried Havenner's lack of statesmanship and broadmindedness. Others, however, expressed themselves at a loss to understand Havenner's motive in omitting Robert's name from the committee, but were refluctant to believe it political retailation.

All the members joined, though, in asking that their fellow member be restored to his former post. Besides Mr. Bailey, McKinley W. Kriegh, Ellis R. King, E. S. Hobbs and S. A. Stebbins took part in the discussion.

Mrs. H. J. Steimer announced plans for the association's participation in the dedication on December 14 of the new Francis Scott Key School. The question of street repairs and park improvements were discussed. The association also gave its authorization for two delegates to be sent to the Congress of School Delegates of the District of Columbia. Samuel P. Hatchett, president of the association, presided.

Wife of Post's Santa Claus Pilot Suffers Frozen Nose During Trip Through Northern Pass; Party Inside Boundary of Saint Nick's Home.

pleted gave us more real enjoyment than any ride in a plane.
After battling heavy snow and a terrific wind for several hours we reached the pass of which the Eskimo Annok had told us. It seemed we would never get through and even the reindeer with their heavy coats suffered from the cold. All of us were covered with tiny particles of ice and when we finally stopped to rest, fingers were too numb to build a fire.

Then the reindeer began to prance about and Capt. Kleinschmidt, familiar with their habits, told us they smelled a large herd of other deer. Luckliy for us the herd was ahead of us and the reindeer raced along the snowy surface as fast as they could run, trying to get to their mates. As most of the way was down hill, on the far side of the pass, they made excellent time and we are well within the borders of Santa Claus' home territory.

Old Layluk, the Northwind, gave us a real battle before he allowed us to enter the country but our ample pro-tection served us well and it wont be

Thousands of reindeer are to be seen on the anow-covered plains surrounding our camp and our own teams seem perfectly contented how that other trouble in getting away from the herd loud our deer may prove balky when it comes to leaving. There is plenty of

Mrs. Kleinschmidt has proven her of Intolerance.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 22 (A.P.).—The Echo, a weekly newspaper published by the Catholic Orphan Asylum of Buffalo, in its issue today says that the Rev Roman J. Nuwer has resigned as chaplain of the One Hundred and Sixth Field Artillery, New York National Guard, because of his view of the part played by religious intolerance in the defeat of Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

Father Nuwer is pastor of St. Joechim's Catholic Church in this city and served as chaplain with the American Expeditionary Forces in France. He had been chaplain of the One Hundred and Sixth Field Artillery for more than eight years. In his letter of resignation, addressed to the commanding office, of the regiment, the paper quotes hirr as saying that:

"Catholics are eligible cannon fodder during a war, but they are not eligible to good citizenship during the times of peace in this clorious country of equal opportunity." He adds, however, the paper says, that in the event of war he would again be prepared to serve as Army chaplain, "unless in the meantime he should become so disgusted with the ignorance and malice of intolerant Americans as to prefer awaiting the end of var as a conscientions objector in a detention camp."

VESTRIS, ONE HOUR OUT, SPRANG LEAK

Eight-Inch Stream Came in Through Ash Ejector, One of Firemen Says.

SHIP OFTEN TOOK WATER

New York, Nov. 22 (A.P.) .- A member New York, Nov. 22 (AP.).—A memoer of the stokehole crew of the lost liner. Vestrist told the steahboat inspection service board of inquiry today that one hour after the vessel left New York water was coming through an ash ejector below the water line, and several hours later a list to starboard became noticeable to him.

Eight-Inch Stream Poured. Eight-inch Stream Poured.

The leaking ash ejector was also the subject of some of the testimony of Gerald Burton, a stoker. He said an 8-inch stream poured into the stoke-hold through the ejector for four hours Sunday, until the engineers stopped it. This occurred, they said, while the list was steadily developing on the day before the liner went down.

Through a coal-port door around which, he said, gaskets or washers hould have been, Burton testified a eak also developed and broken glass in port in the door also permitted water leaking. After three efforts, he said, he got the caulking to stay in place. Wohld was questioned relative to a collision between the Vestris and the liner Santa Lutza when the Vestris left a Brooklyn drydock shortly before the start of her voyage. He replied he had looked over the ports after the accident and found the Vestris had scracely been scratched.

Herbert Welland, third officer on the Vestris, said he had observed three leaks before the vessel sank. One was through a half-door which was plugged by a carpenter, another was through canvas over a ventilator on the second class cabin, and the third through two ports in the steward's quarters on the starboard side.

Door Again Leaked.

Door Again Leaked.

Several hours after the half-door leak was repaired, he said, water began seeping through there again and by 4 o'clock Monday morning, the day the Vestris sank, the door was three-quarters submerged.

Welland said the lifeboats were in "very good condition," fully equipped and without signs of deterioration. The inspectors had been thorough in examining the boats, he said, but he did not see them test the release hooks on the lifeboat launching apparatus. At the close of Welland's testimony the hearing was adjourned until to-morrow morning.

After the adjournment, Walter F. Brown, Assistant 'Secretary of Commerce, said he had heard no evidence up to now which would indicate the sieamship inspection men had not performed their examination of the Vest.

Six, Carried Away While at Work on Lake Manitoba, Believed to Be on Island-Eight Seen in Two Boats. Three Bodies Are Found in Superior.

Winnipeg, Manitoba, Nov. 22 (A.P.).

Fifteen men believed to be marooned and without food, were sighted today by an airplane on an island six miles from Lake Manit ba's shore. The plane was searching for six missing fishermen and it was believed they were among those seen.

In addition to the men on the island, the aviator saw eight men in two boats which were making slow progress toward the mainland through the ice. Efforts will be made to drop food to the island group from a plane.

Five of the six missing fishermen were carried out on the lake on a thin sheet of ice during a storm Tuesday and the sixth disappeared after attempting to rescue them with his small boat.

A search for them was hampered until today by the violence of the storm.

The fishermen were working along the edge of the lee in the afternoon when it broke away and was swept out into the lake. Joe Lop Ston, who was in a small boat nearby, went to their assistance. He also was lost to sight in the storm. The five fishermen are: Swan Fredbjo, on, his son Vic-

Burton was one of four persons who remained of 25 in lifeboat No. 8, which overturned in the water four times. It was this boat which some witnesses said had a hole in its side, although Burton said he had noticed none even though the craft began leaking as soon as it reached the water.

COST OF GOVERNMENT.

Bills calling upon Congress to appropriate approximately $4,700,000,000 to meet the exconses of the Nation for the coming year are being prepared. The budget will be the largest in the history of the country, except during the war and the immediate post-war period. Members of the appropriations committee have pledged themselves to the strictest economy, and yet they see a $5,000,000,000 Congress in prospect for the near future.

It is difficult for taxpayers to comprehend these tremendous figures. But statistics show that this sum represents only approximately one-third of the total governmental expenditures in the United States, the remainder being appropriated by local and State govern-

Demands for reduction of taxation are universal except among the agencies which have to do with the expenditures of public funds. They realize better than the taxpayer the necessity of enormous appropriations to meet the ever-increasing demands for governmental service. The Federal, State and municipal governments are constantly extending their functions and improving their methods of operation. In view of this fact there is little hope that taxes can be materially reduced without curtailment of services rendered.

Repeated attempts are made to trim the appropriations of the Federal Government for roads, research, development activities, education and general expenditures. Reduction of these expenses would hardly be felt in the Federal tax bill, for approximately 80 per cent of the Nation's revenue goes to pay the costs of past wars and to provide for defense. The Government spends more than $1,333,333,333 to maintain the Army and Navy, pay the continuing charges inherited from past wars in the form of pensions, and to care for disuliled veterans. The national defense program and pensions take about $36 from every $100 the Government spends. Principal payments on debts require about $20 and interest payments another $24. These items leave all other national expenses insignificant in comparison.

Debt and interest payments can only be wiped out in time. The best the country can do is to guard against increasing them with future wars. The cost of maintaining national defense remains a large item in the budget, which can be reduced only when the nations of the world are ready to agree to a scheme of limiting their armaments. The United States is disposed to favor any plan which will limit armaments. Several times this Government has led the way toward international agreement on this subject. It is now up to the leading nations of Europe to cooperate in ridding the taxpayers of the world of such a

EXHIBITION FLYING DANGERS.

The War Department, taking note of the ncreasing number of requests for exhibition flights of Army aircraft, especially in connection with the dedication of new airports, has revised its regulations governing such flights. Henceforward, exhibition flights will be authorized only in connection with the dedication of an airport or landing field, or at such exhibitions as have military features. Sponsors of flights must furnish an indemnity bond approved by the Secretary of War for damages to persons or property and they must defray the expenses of the flying personnel, furnish suitable grades and amounts of gasoline and oil for flying, and for servicing the participating airplanes for their return journey. With the exception of dedications that have features of military significance, the participation of Army planes in dedicatory exercises is limited to such airports as are rated at least D-3-X by the Department of Commerce, and sponsors in every case must agree to prohibit exhibitions of wing walking, trapeze work, changing from plane to plane in the air, and other performances of like nature by other participants.

It is high time that the War Departmen should revise its regulations governing exhibition flights of Army aircraft. The sad story written during the international air races at Los Angeles proved as much. It will be remembered that the Army sent its stunt team, The Three Musketeers," to the races to compete for public favor with a similar Navy organization, "The Sea Hawks." Each team electrified the assembled throngs with its daring exploits. Darting, swooping, zooming and executing the most involved maneuvers in formation, at terrific speeds, and over a crowded field, each team strove to win public applause for its branch of the service. Sea Hawks," by the grace of good fortune, came through unscathed. "The Three Musketeers" had become but two musketeers at the end of the races, for the commander of the team was killed in a crash. Subsequently one of the two survivors perished in another

The War Department's regulations governing exhibition flying make no mention of how in the future Army pilots themselves will be regulated. The new regulations do not go far enough. The War Department has not yet publicly indicated whether or not it learned a esson in the tragedy at Los Angeles, and whether it has effectively and for all time set up regulations that will prevent fliers from deliberately "stunting" their way into fatal crashes. The Army should make public such assurance, and the Navy, whose "Sea Hawks" were equally guilty of foolish and dangerous stunt flying even though they survived the Los Angeles races, should follow suit.

PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE:

The District Zoning Commission acted wisely in refusing at present to alter the building regulations on the north side of Pennsylvania avenue. In view of the fact that a committee of the American Institute of Architects is making a study of this street to secure architectural harmony with the Government buildings to be erected on the south side, it would be well for changes in the regulations to be held temporarily in abeyance. Pennsylvania avenue, with its vista of the streets of the Nation. Fifth avenue, New York; Michigan avenue, Chicago, and Pennsylvania avenue are coming to be referred to as the three great American streets. The importance of the latter can not be overestimated in any scheme for beautification of the Capital. As part of the general study of Washington by the American Institute of Architects, the north side of Pennsylvania avenue was assigned to the Chicago chapter. Report of its findings and recommendations will be made within the next three months. While harmony with Government buildings has been an important element in the study, the committee has also sought to preserve the commercial value of the district as much as possible. It is therefore suggested that cornice levels on the north side be harmonized with those on the south side, and that setbacks on the commercial buildings be allowed to run to greater height. The cornice levels of the Government buildings will average 95 feet. It is apparent that if the recommendations of the architects are to be adopted, zoning regulations in this area will need overhauling. The wise course is to wait for the report and give it full consideration with respect to all the interests involved. It appears that the proposed National Hotel Building, which the zoning commission has ruled against, would not be prohibited in the architects' plan. Permission was asked to erect a building 130 feet high with setbacks at the 90-foot and 110-foot This would serve the needs of the promoters of the project and preserve the beauty and symmetry of the street. All angles of the proposition should be considered. The city is fortunate in having a committee of experts to give aid in such a vital development

BRITAIN'S VISITORS

The fourteen British journalists who have been touring the United States for a couple of months are scheduled to depart on December 1. They have visited every part of the country and have been received with universal cordiality. In the midst of incessant entertainment they have managed to send home preliminary articles giving their impressions of America, and their baggage is swollen by "literature" kindly furnished by a multitude of civic organizations.

These visitors are now in possession of first-hand knowledge of the United States and its people. The newspapers they represent will hereafter be in a position to profit by the accurate judgment of these trained observers in dealing with American affairs. The impres sions gained and the friendships formed will play their part in promoting a better understanding between the two countries. Public opinion in both countries stands for steadfast friendship, and the more accurate the information possessed by public opinion the more powerful will be its influence upon public policies tending to foster friendship. America's doors are always open to those who come for better acquaintance and for the cultivation of good

RADIO-CABLE COMBINES.

Riding ruthlessly over bitter opposition of the Labor party, the British House of Commons on Wednesday accepted the cable merger plan and put its telegraph and wireless resources in private hands. The government is leasing its beam wireless services to a newly formed company and selling to it the Pacific cable, the West Indian cable, and the two postoffice Atlantic cables. The step was made necessary because of the increasing competition of radio with the cable companies, whose con tinued existence is deemed desirable as a means of secret communication in war time.

The cable radio merger in England will give impetus to the suggestion that a similar combination service should be permitted under American management. The antitrust laws prohibit the combined operation of cables and radio. American cable companies, however, to no less degree than those of Great Britain, are hit by the competition of radio, and if it is held desirable on this side of the Atlantic to continue their existence, some way out of the present dilemma must be devised.

It may be that there are good reasons why a single interest should not be permitted to control both cable and radio services. Combined operation by British interests, however, argues to the contrary. At any rate, consideration of the clause in the antitrust laws prohibiting combined radio-cable operation, as a result of the British move, becomes necessary. Steps should be taken looking toward development of a policy by which American controlled communications will be able to meet the new and greater competition afforded by Great

HOMELESS NATIONAL GUARD.

Maj. Gen. Anton Stephan, commander of the District of Columbia National Guard, ha promised to renew his fight before Congress to obtain an armory. Together with Maj. Gen. C. C. Hammond, he addressed a meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars several nights ago, outlining the battle that has been made for the last twenty years to obtain a home for the local guard. Gen. Hammond called attention to the fact that the Government breaks its own rule in not providing an armory. Before a State National Guard is recognized, he said. the State must have provided an armory for its guardsmen. Gen. Stephan said that he has not given up hope that congressional approval of the local project will be obtained. His plan, it will be remembered, contemplates converon of the old Pension Office building into an armory

The National Guard is an integral unit in the comprehensive scheme for national defense. Its members, as a general thing, serve at a sacrifice, actuated by a love of military training and their genuine desire to prepare themselves for emergencies. When trouble arises the guard is first upon the scene. In case of war it is immediately mustered into Federal service. No one denies the fact that the National Guard is a fundamentally important American institution.

The local guard units are efficient. It has not been easy, however, to maintain efficiency and keep up morale under the handicaps that have had to be faced. There is no place to store equipment and no protected place for drill. The local guard is homeless. Whether or not it would be possible to turn over to it the old Pension Office building for conversion into an armory is a disputed point. The Government says it has other, more pressing uses for the structure. Possibly better progress would be made if those interested in the National Guard were to approach Congress with a plan looking toward erection of an entirely new armory.

THE LAW ON GRADE CROSSINGS.

The Supreme Court of the United States has handed down a decision sustaining the right of a State to compel a railroad to abolish a dangerous grade crossing. The decision was rendered in connection with an appeal taken by the Lehigh Valley Railroad Co. from a ruling of the New Jersey Board of Public Utility Commissioners requiring it to build a $325,000 underpass on a State highway. The railway held that a $205,000 underpass de signed by its engineers would serve the purpose equally well, even though it would create a slight curve in the present straight road across the tracks. The Supreme Court, however, held that the State board's order was justified.

On Wednesday the New York Transit Commission adopted resolutions directing its counsel to bring court action against the Long Island Railroad and the Staten Island Rapid Transit Co., for the purpose of compelling submission of plans for the elimination of 44 grade crossings. On various occasions since June, 1926, orders directing this work were issued, and the commission, according to the resolution. "is of the opinion that by reason of the failure and omission to submit the plans and specifications the railroad companies are violating the order of the commission."

The decision of the Supreme Court in the Lehigh Valley Railroad appeal should carry considerable weight with the Long Island Railroad, the Staten Island Rapid Transit Co. and all other railroads that have adopted a policy of Ignoring or taking their time about complying with orders to abolish grade crossings. Rallroads have, as the Supreme Court was careful to point out, certain constitutional rights that must not be violated, including a guarantee against confiscation of their property. States, however, have the superior duty of protecting life, and when, in carrying out this function, it becomes necessary to order the abolition of a grade crossing, rallroads have no choice but to obey without undue RAILROADS FEEL COMPETITION.

Railroads of the United States which have een so often accused of taking enormous profits from the traveling and shipping public are now face to face with a serious problem. The Bureau of Railway Economics has reported to the American Railway Association, in convention at New York, that gross revenues of all railroads for the first nine months of this year decreased $124,000,000, compared with the corresponding period of 1927. This is a reduction of 2.7 per cent on a total of $4, 534,000,000. Only by a sharp reduction of operating expenses were the roads able to show an increase in their net operating income for

The decrease in revenue represents reduc tions of more than 2 per cent in freight traffic and more than 6 per cent in passengers. Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, told the association that since net railroad incomes during the last eight years have been elow the standard contemplated by the transportation act of 1920, the carriers have been able to give only a minimum standard of service.

Reason for the decline in railroad revenues can be seen in the fact that last year buses carried 2,525,000,000 passengers, and that motor trucks are steadily encroaching on the railway freight business. Railroads will likely continue to be the most important transportation agencies in this country for years to There must be adjustments, however, and the problems arising out of the new order of things will call for the keenest judgment and the best intelligence in the railroad industry.

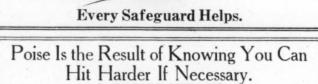

HERMAN SUDERMANN.

Herman Sudermann, one of Germany's most brilliant dramatists and novelists of recent times, is dead in Berlin. He suffered a stroke of apoplexy six weeks ago, but was improving in spite of his 71 years until pneumonia set in a few days ago.

Sudermann's plays have been translated into every civilized language and he is widely known in this country by the novel readers and theatergoers of the nineties and the early part of the present century. Crowds flocked to witness the production of "Magda." Care," the English translation of his best known novel, was a best seller 35 years ago. Sudermann continued to write, but his recent books, which are largely critical, have not been translated.

In the heights of his success the name of Sudermann was linked with that of Ibsen and Hauptmann. He is still considered one of the great dramatists of his age, because of his vivid and sincere representation of social conditions as he saw them.

The life of Sudermann was almost as stirring a drama as his masterpiece. Born into a poor Dutch family, he struggled with poverty all through youth. After completing his education he became editor of a small weekly in Berlin. Then he began writing stories, and was again reduced to a bread and cheese existence. In spite of the failure of his first novel the young man rose from an obscure journalist to a world-famous author in six years. While he was unable to continue in popularity when the realistic school gave way to symbolism and impressionism, he will be assigned a permanent place in German litera-

Tobacco Prohibition

To the Editor of The Post-Sir: The W. C. T. U. now comes forth with the movement to prevent minors and women from smoking, which is impossible. What will the next move of this organization be? It is hard to say, but very likely it will be one to abolish tobacco entirely; and then the Government will lose a great amount of bacco.

It will take a great deal to make women give up smoking if they choose not to do so.

Reapportionment Called For. To the Editor of The Post-Sir: Instead of taking too long a recess over he holidays Congress would do better by remaining on duty and passing s reapportionment measure, which ought to have been passed six years ago. A number of the States are deprived of the representation in Congress they are entitled to under the Constitution. Congress has been very derelict in this matter. This will be the short session, and with the important business de-manding attention Congress should not waste any time, either by recessing for the holidays, or by political speech making. One of the most important matters that call for action is that of reapportioning the membership of the House. A new House will be elected two years nence, and the apportionment ought to be made in time for the several legialatures to rearrange their districts before the next election. A. C. L.

Has doubled in size and Opened a Children's Corner

The Fountain Room has proven such a popular luncheon place that it has been doubled in size, in order to serve the constantly-increasing number of patrons.

The Children's Corner is a delightful place

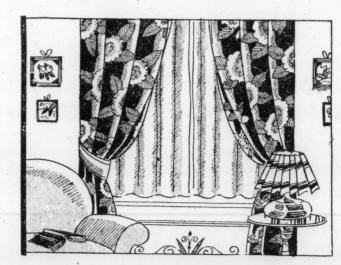

For the little folk, where the things children like best will be served, and the adults accompanying them may be served too. A bright little menu all their own is furnished from which they may make selections, and the pictures, rhymes and song will prove good reasons for taking it away as a souvenir.

Standard of New Jersey's Chairman Known as "Man Who Never Played."

BEGAN AS BOOKKEEPER

sw York, Nov. 22 (A.P.) .- George H. Jones, chairman of the board of the Standard Oll Co. of New Jersey, died today in the Harbor Hospital after a long illness. Mr. Jones was elected chairman of Standard of New Jersey to succeed the late A. C. Bedford on November 16, 1925, after 36 years of service with the corporation. The election met with widespread approval throughout the organization for Mr. Jones, known to his associates as "the man who never played," had devoted virtually all his time and years of hard work almost entirely to the corporation's business.

Mr. Jones was familiar with ever development in the corporation's history and associates frequently relied upon his "card index memory" for actrate information regarding conver-

BOYER BABY LOSES SHARE IN FORTUNE

Court Disinherits Adopted Boy; Orders His Birth Certificate Voided.

DECEIT TO SAVE HOME

Detroit, Nov. 22 (A.P.).—Five-year-old Dode Alfred Boyer today was legal-ly distince theory sharing in the benefits of a $3,500,000 trust fund created by Joseph A. Boyer, multimillion aire adding machine manufacturer, for the child in the belief that he was a grandson.

In a decision in suits to disinherit the child on the grounds that he had been falsely represented by Mrs Laura
A. Boyer, daughter-in-law of Joseph Boyer, as her son, Circuit Judge Arthur Webster voided the child's birth certificate as Joseph A. Boyer 3d, and held he was not legally entitled to the held he was not legally entitled to the benefits of the trust fund.

Denefits of the trust fund.

The decision in effect means the loss of millions to the child, now the adopted son of Laura M. Boyer.

The decision was on a plea of the Security Trust Co., trustee of the fund, that it be given a decree relieving it of the obligation of paying over funds.

the obligation of paying over funds to the boy, and that the child no longer be recognized as the son of Myron L. Boyer, son of Joseph Boyer.

The court held that Joseph Boyer had expressly indicated in creating the fund that it was not to benefit an adopted child.

Myron L. Boyer brought the suits, one to expunge the name of the child from the birth records of the State as his son, and the other to distinherit him, following discovery a year ago that Dode was not his real son.

The discovery was made through a nurse, Miss Mabel Barrett, who testified today that the baby represented as Boyer's had been taken by her into the Boyer home when it was a few days old. She said a physician had ordered her to take the infant there and told her Mrs. Boyer had obtained the child from a girl in Windsor, Ont-Admitting the deception. Mrs. Boyer said she smuggled the infant into her home and represented him as her son to satisfy her husband's desire for a son and to "save her home." She is now, estranged from her husband.

As usual, Mr. Thomas presented a program which exhibited the wide range of his genius and displayed his beautiful barytone voice with its velvet tones and rounded notes to fine advantage. In phrasing, emotional expression and artistry of singing there are few singers in America who can equal Mr. Thomas and he won a wide reputation for himself during his operatic career in Europe.

Two selections from operas, the "Invocazione di Orfeo," from "Eurydice," and a composition from the opera "Heriodiade," were tumultuously applauded, and the group of German lieber also won a storm of approval. In his third group Mr. Thomas introduced some French ballads, sung with impeccable diction and with fine feeling.

Complaints Over Waves Still Come

Capt. Hill Will Make Thorough Investigation of Heterodyning on WRC, Regarding Which Many Find Fault.

By ROBERT D. HEINL.

It was yet too early to report on the result of his investigation into the interference being caused by the recent rearrangement of the local wave lengths, Capt. Guy D. Hill, U.S. A., to whom this work has been delegated, said yesterday. Capt. Hill, who is acting as the chief broadcasting engineer of the Federal Radio Commission, is toing into the Washington situation thoroughly, especially the large number of complaints with regard to heterdaying on WRC's wave length.

Further complaints received from Post readers follow:

"Certainly the present radio reception is terible and if it continues as at present it is my opinion that radios will become useless for satisfactory entertainment." Robert G. Posey, Indian Head, Md. "I have a new model set. I can't get WRC, which was my main Mation before the change." W. I. Mil-

"Before change" wave length of WRC, programs ame in wonderfully Clear and without the slightest static, whistes and other noises which we can not tune out now." Mrs. H. W. Selah, 17 Third street northeast. "Can not get any station except WMAL. WRC is absolutely dead, not a sound," May R. Fuller, 336 Second street northeast. "November 10 had Toronto, Newtrk, Raleigh, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Schenectady and other stations. Nothing alnce," W. B. Rowzie, 1000 Rhode Island avenue northeast.

"Buzz on WRC. Would like this station to come through better because programs are fine." Miss Mabel L. Ljottus, 310 East Clifton Terrace. "Before the new wave length assignments wire could always depend upon WRC, but now we can not get them at all. KDKA interferes," W. E. Arnold, Milferd, Va. "I used to get all local stations. Can not get any station but WRC," Henry B. Davis, 1339 Fairmont. "Richmond is all we can get on this new wave length and that isn't so good. Gan't get WRC at all," Mrs. E. J. Rossen, Box 404, Culpeper, Va. "WRC does not come in well. There are buzzing and humming noises," Mrs. Eastman Keys, Dumfries, Va. "My chief pleasure its gone if I can not hear the good programs through WRC," M. H. Dickinson. 1211 O street northwest.
"Formerly could zet local scations very clearly. Now can seldom get WRC, It is hardly ever distinct, especially in the daytime." Miss T. F. McCurdy, 1812 K street northwest. "Il live six blocks from WRC and can get the station anywhere on the dial, b. t before the recent change I had no trouble to tune them out and bring in Fforda; Canada af. Chicago while others were on, so I think the change 's worse," E. W. Smith.

"Almost continuous code interfer-ance on WRC. KDKA interferes bad-ly," Luther L. Smith, 382 Hamilton avenue, Clarendon, Va. "I have a mod-ern set, but can not get anything. All stations weak." J. C. Locke, Indian Head, Md. "WRC was perfect before, practically no static, no interference and no whistling." Mary M. Rider, 4121 Brandywine street northwest. "WRC comes in so loud I can hardly keep it from blasting. I have a new electric set and had no trouble before," E. H. woodward, 4704 Eighth street north WRC is not nearly as satisfactory a before. It lacks the sharpness and crispness it had before the change," Frank F. Bunker, 1707 Columbia road northwest. "When WOL or WMAL are broadcasting at the same time as WRC, all come in and interfere," Emory J. Tarr, 918 M street northwest.

"WMAL has undoubtedly benefited by the change. WJAX and WSM, two of my strong stations before, are not at all good now." C. R. Wilson, 7108 Chestnut street northwest. "When WRC is on there are three and sometimes four stations working against it—especially WMAL. Everything in the East is accompanied by whistle, hammering and grinding, while Chicago and Cincinnati are perfectly clear. Southern stations are indistinct, fading away completely." Mrs. Philip W Turner, 3039 Q street northwest. "Station W-3XK, 1519 Connecticut avenue, ruins nearby WRC when it is on the air." Mrs. R. W Dowdy, 1824 Street northwest. "Previous service, especially the evening preceding the present wavelength, was superb." E. F. Jarhnke, 1339 Kearney street northeast. "On both my sets, WRC blocks off all stations on my dials." Robert E. Layton, 3019 O street northwest. "Difficulty in getting outside and local does not remain clear as before." Timothy O. McDowell, 2900 Connecticut avenue. "Had no trouble with our radio until change in wavelengths. Very unsatisfactory." Mrs. George Dyson, 1940 Biltmore street northwest. "The present argangement, in my opinion, could not be much worse. WORK'S BRIDGE

CONTRACT BRIDGE. CONTRACT BRIDGE is still so young a game that insufficient attention has been paid by most demands of Contract.

Doubling informatorily in the new game demands greater conservatism than it does in the old. The penalties being higher, the possibility that the partner of the informatory doubler may be forced to bid with a worthless hand, must be considered more seriously; and the risk must not be taken strength that the loss can not be exding being higher in Contract than in informatory in Auction should be so reated in Contract; and possibly some Auction business doubles should be regarded as informatory in Contract. The rule generally used in Auction is that the double of a bid of one No Trump, or of one, two or three of a suit is informatory unless the partner of the doubler has previously bid or doubled. No sound thinker will question the advisability of continuing at least these doubles as informatory in Contract.

least these doubles as informatory in Contract.

There are some who have hesitated about regarding as informatory the Auction double of an initial bid of three of a suit; although the best statistics obtainable have shown that there are many more hands with which a profitable informatory double of an original bid of three of a suit can be made, than there are those in which a profitable business double can be made under the same conditions. In Contract, however, there is no doubt about it; many original Contract bids of three of a suit are made and rarely does an adversary desire to double one for business. One reason is that often the partner will jump the bid to a game-goer and therefore a more profitable double can be obtained by waiting. Another reason is that Contract players rarely double bids that will not produce game undoubled.

The question of whether the limit of informatory doubling should be increased for Contract will be considered.

THE VISIT OF CEREMONY. D EAR Miss Singleton: Recently a friend of mine moved to another town and after a few weeks a friend of mine moved to another town and after a few weeks a maswered the door herself. The house is so arranged that one enters directly into the living room, there being no reception hall. The ladies, who called in groups of twos, stayed for about tenminutes and upon leaving left a calling card on the living room table. Now was this correct?

I claim that it wasn't, since cards, to my way of thinking, are a formal institution and there can be no formality in a house where the mistress is her own maid.

So won't you please tell me the correct card etiquette for most occasions. Also, please tell me, how should a business card be worded: Miss Mary smith or Mary Smith?

You are quite right about the absurdity of trying to behave in formal ways on perfectly informal occasions. No woman who has to open her own door is living in ceremonious circumstances, it would not be necessary for a lady who found her hostess at home to leave cards. The only reason for leaving them is that, with a new acquaintance, the address may be a convenience to the hostess, or that, if only one member of a family calls, the cards of the others may be a politehess. But this is more fitting in the formality of a day at home or reception. It seems to me that on the occasion you mention, the procedure was only to be explained by the fact that the ladies thought all their names and addresses might be confusing to a newcomer. heir names and addresses might be onfusing to a newcomer. For a business card, I should prefer "Miss Mary Smith" "Miss Mary Smith." (Copyright, 1928.)

Padvice for the home care of those tho suffer from rheumatism. He who suffer from rheumatism. He writes especially about those who suffer from acute articular rheumatism known by many people as rheumatism fever. He accepts the theory which is now generally accepted that this variety of rheumatism is the result of an infection. The infecting microbe is some form of a coccus, probably a streptococcus. Some day we will have a satisfactor specific remedy, but that is for the physicians to use. or the physicians to use.

He advocates rest in bed for as long is rest in bed adds to comfort and, on op of that, a prolongation of the rest or the protection of the heart. While the swollen, painful joint holds the cen-ter of the stage in acute rheuratic fever, the dosease is constitutional and the most important organ to watch is the heart.

The bed should be made comfortable. H advocates wool covering for the bed. There should be blankets, of course. It may be best to put the blankets next to the patient and discard sheets for the time. They are cold. However, there is much to be said for sheets. The patient should wear woolen night clothes. If the fabric is not wool it should be cotton woven, so as to get the heat retaining effects of wool. Canton flannel and some other weaves accomplish this. The inflamed joints should be kept wrapped in wool.

He is not for goose grease or snake oil in his experience anointing with various kinds of greases has not proved heipful. This does not apply to greases and creams used in massaging during the early cinvalescence stage of the discase. If the rheumatic joints are on the extremities he advocates immobilizing by means of sand begs. Hot water bars may prove useful at times sometimes the tonsiles are found to b. bad, and it seems possible, at least, that her is the source of infection. Operation on the tonsils, or other parts of the body, should not be allowed during the acute stage of the Lifection. To do so makes matters worse. In acute rheumatic fever the e is profuse sweating. Therefore, the patient should have plenty of water. The water may be flavored. Alkaline waters are good. The urine is highly acid. Therefore, the diet should consist principally of fruit: vegetables and nilk.

Little Trips Into Science. V. WHEN EVIL WINDS BLOW.

If it had not been for the piano, the children and teacher would have been crushed.

WHEN I was last in Wisconsin, I was told about a tornado which had torn things up in one of the southern sections of the State. This stornado performed several tricks, as does almost every tornado which strikes the dwellings of men.

The wind is, indeed, a power, and an ev. power, when it goes on a rampage. The tornado is a frequent visitor to some parts of this continent, and especially to the prairie larts of Kansas and Nebraska.

When you see a whirling funnel hanging down from a black cloud, be careful! Run to a cyclone cellar if you have one!

Tornadoes occur when the air pressure grows too low They come because the air of, surrounding parts rushes to the place of the day in the months of April, May, June and July

In the months of April, May, June and July
Furious tornadoes sweep along the west coast of Africa. These are marked by masses of black clouds in the shape of an arch. There are blinding flashes of lightning, deafening claps of thunde and torrents of rain.

The worst times for tornadoes in western Africa come when the wet and dry seasons change. Moist winds from the sea meet hot winds from the land, and then arrives the tornado—fast, furious and full of danger.

Uncle Ray

One event of the W'sconsin tornado was the blowing down of a country schoolhouse, or of at least a good portion of the school. The 'roof fell in, and the teacher and pupils would have been crushed had they not huddled near a piano. The roof was held up by the piano, and no one was badly hurt. TIPS FOR THE LIPS.

THE fact that we have supplied ourselves with exactly the right sort of y rouge doesn't always mean that our lip make-up is going to be perfect. For even the right cosmetics can't look right if they are put on in the wrong way.

For example, consider the way in which many women apply lipstick or lip salve. They put it on up to the very edge and into the very corners of their mouths, feeling, no doubt, that they must make a thorough job of it. But in this way, the rouge is almost sure to blur at the edges, and the apparent size of the mouth is greatly enlarged. The correct method of application is to stop the rouge before it reaches the edges of the lips, then to gently smooth it off with the fingerity covered with a bit of soft, old fiannel, and thus avoid any possibility of a blurred effect at the edges. And one detail to remember is the importance of blending the color on the insides of the lips as well, so that, when the lips are parted, no abrupt break in the color line will be visible.

UPRUSH IS RESUMED IN VIGOROUS TRADING

Wednesday's Reaction Fails to Shake Confidence in "Hoover" Market.

TICKER LESS CONFUSING

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Nov. 22.—The interruption of the spectacular advance in stock values that constituted the Hoover bull market on Wednesday was short-lived. Continuing its violent activity, the market resumed its unprecedented uprush today.

Speculative confidence appeared not at all disturbed by the technical reaction of the session immediately preceding and buying orders poured in all day, rolling up a total of transactions approximating 5,900,000 shares and virtually the entire list scored substantial gains on the day. "hese ranged up to 49 points, with Wright Aeroplane registering the maximum appreciation, with Montgomery Ward next, up 23½ points, and Radio close behind, 18 points net higher.

Demand for numerous of the leaders of the advance increased as the session progressed and, with few exceptions, prices at the close were at, or very near, their best of the day. Such was the trading volume that even the new ticker system failed to keep abreast of transactions and the tape record was eight minutes behind actual transactions at the finish.

ape record was eight minutes behind actual transactions at the finish.

New Ticker Plan Satisfactory.

On the whole, however, excellent results were obtained from the new plan of eliminating sales from the exchange tickers. Traders were kept posted on the sales volume on the bond tickers, which carried transactions on important stocks at intervals in addition to prices from the floor on some 50 representative issues. With the confusion lessened, and kept fairly accurately informed of what stocks were bringing, traders were less fearful about placing commitments.

Radio opened 11 points above yes-terday's close and in a short time at-tained a new high at 384, but closed 10 points under that level; Wright started 7 points higher than it closed yesterday, and after touching a new price peak at 272, held within 2 points of the top.

Closing Somewhat Irregular.

Trading was somewhat irregular in the final two hours, some of the early favorites losing ground slightly and others gaining sensationally, while a number of issues that had been quiet in the forenoon livened up and advanced strongly.

United States Steel common moved narrowly, closing 1¾ above yesterday's last price. Dupont lost 3 points net. Marked strength was displayed by most of the oils, after some early profit talking, and a majority of them quit with substantial gains.

Score at New Highs.

New high prices were established by about a score of issues, including Victor, Radio, Wright, Inspiration, Liquid Carbonic, National Biscutt, Otis Steel, Marland Oil, Mid-Continent Petroleum, Commercial Credit, Pittsburgh Coal, Andes Copper, Cerro de Pasco, Rossia Insurance, Kansas City Southern, Pathe Exchange and International Business Machinery. Snider Packing dropped to a new low.

Money renewed and held at 6½ per cent and was in good supply. There seemed little concern about the brokers' loan statement to be given out after the close. While time money was unchanged there appeare to be an easier tone.

The Zodiac

The zone through which the sun passes in its yearly path among the stars is known as the Zodiac. It is divided into twelve signs, named from the twelve constellations which coincided with these signs in the time of the astronomer Hipparchus about two thousand years ago.

But even here, where calculations seemed constant as the stars themselves, a change has taken place. The path of the sun has moved forward until now each sign of the Zodiac is actually found in the constellation which precedes it.

Griffith Tells Umpires How He Hired Johnson

Walter Johnson's expression of his liking for Washington as a place of residence gave President Clark Griffith, of the Washington Baseball Club, the first intimation one day last summer that Johnson would succeed Bucky Harris as manager of the Nationals, Griffith told the members of the District of Columbia Umpires Association last night at their annual banquet at the Hamilton Hotel.

Johnson's Newark Team was playing in Baltimore at a time when a change in the management of the Nats was considered, Griffith's aid, and knowing that Johnson was under contract with Newark, he was unable to talk terms with the former pitching star. He asked Johnson how he liked Newark, however, and when Johnson replied that he preferred Washington, it was the inception of Griffith's idea to obtain him as manager of the Nats.

The banquet was described as the most successful in the history of the umpires' organization. Other speakers were L. G. Schmidt, of the Potomac League; George Winslow, secretary of the Kiwanis Club; Billy Rapp, Cleveland scout; John D. O'Reilly; of George-town University, and Jack Haas, honorary member of the association.

football, or even tiddledewinks"
This is the first time the Yale social system has been condemned on the ground of brutality, and while strangers may not be impressed by the exhaust-ing nature of the custom it must be conceded that an alumnus is in a po-sition to speak as one who has suf-ber and success of his visits.

It may be that in a mistaken compliment to their physical excellence the members of the football squad are given all the top floor sophomores. All college activities, the social as well as the intellectual and athetic, are deemed to be of some probable practical value in later life, but in condemning the activities of "calling week" the Alumni Weekly boldly assumes that Mr. John Garvey, Mr. Masse Eddy, and Mr. Eddie Decker, among the rest, will never take up the sale of vacuum cleaners.

It is a radical proposal, and rather than shut the boys off completely from a possible future in genteel door to door work at liberal rates of commission, the more wealthy alumni might endow a battery of elevators. This would minimize the exhaustion and preserve an extra-curricular feature of the Yale training which may prove of a try ale training which may prove of a suffering from depression.

SHASTA KLAN WINS 1 1-8 MILE FEATURE AT BOWIE

In Stretch Challenge

Sande's Safety Pin, at 21-1 Odds, Takes Third Easily.

Sun Friar Triumphs in Old Dominion Purse; Corporal Second.

Special to The Washington Post. B OWIE RACE TRACK, Nov. 22. Shasta Klan, the consistent so of Harmonique that races Thomas J. Watts, accounted for today

Thomas J. Watts, accounted for today's feature race when he won the White Marsh purse, a dash of a mile and a furlong. There were five starters, Spear Bock and Royal Stranger beling withdrawn. The field was a matched one and it was a good betting affair.

Stretcher was the favorite, but whatever chance he had was ruined by the tactics pursued by his rider, A. Robertson. The latter rushed Stretcher away from the post and, racing in close company with J. Fred A., forced the pacedown the back stretch and around the far turn, where he went to the front. Stevens laid in behind the leaders with Shasta Klan and was riding a waiting pace. He made no move until they were straightened out for the final run and when he did Shasta Klan responded with a game rush, passing the leadand when he do chasta han responded with a game rush, passing the leaders inside the furiong pole and in the last sixteenth, when challenged, hung on with determination to beat Canaan out half a length.

Stretcher was third, beaten a length and a half for the place, and then came Prickly Heat. Workman, who rode Canaan, appeared unable to get his mount going in the early stages and when he did make his move rounding the far turn was blocked and knocked back. At the end Canaan came again and the finish found him going the strongest of the lot.

Racing conditions were ideal again this afternoon and one of the largest midweek crowds of the meeting turned out to witness the sport.

It was a rather ordinary lot of 2-year-olds that went to the post in the opening event, a dash of 5½ furiongs under claiming conditions. The George W. Loft Stable furnished the winner in Toki, a filly by Donnacons. Toki found strong support and justified the confidence placed in her by deshing to the front when the break came and making all of her own pace, she won in easy fashion by a length and a half. Bosky was second, a like distance in front of Begin Over, and then followed Eterne.

Fields had the mount on Toki and at one stage of the trip she had a lead of four lengths. In the stretch run Toki was well in hand and had lots in reserve at the finish. Honey Thistic, a keen factor in the early stages, tailed off in the final stages and was seventh at the end

n the final steges and was seventh

Free beat a band of plater Care Free beat a band of platers in the second race ween he outlasted Lassa to win by half a length. Lassa was the one to make the pace and led in the run down the back stretch Making the turn out of the back stretch Care Free moved up on the outside and circling the leaders went to the front and rounding the far turn drew away. Care Free went wide entering the home stretch where High Hope cut the corner. The ground that the latter saved enabled him to take the lead but when it came to a drive High Hope weakened while Care Free and Lassa both came again.

Three lengths back of Lassa fin-tshed High Hope and then followed the well-played favorite, McNamee. The latter was in tight quarters in the early stages and Long was forced to take up. He was never able to recover the ground he lost at this stage.

The Earl Sande colors which have the Earl Sance colors which have been very much in the limelight at Bowle were carried to victory in the running of the third race when Safety Pin, a 21-to-1 shot, was an easy win-her over Fly Light. Fields had the thourt or the latter and on breaking wount or the latter and on breaking with the leaders she went around on the outside in the run down the back stretch to take confinand and draw away going to the half-mile pole. Safety Pin was second and racing under slight restraint. Entering the home stretch, Fly Light was still in front and looked to have the race won, but in the final furlong she collapsed and Safety Pin caught and passed her without effort to win going away at the finish by three lengths. Fair Beth was third, beaten a couple of lengths for the place; Golden Anger, a 100-to-1 shot, was fourth, another length away. The Whitney entries, Lisa and Latch Key, favorites in the wagering, were never dangerous.

Sun Friar, who showed a clever per formance a few days ago when he bear Stretcher, Golden Auburn and others in a claiming race, came back with another winning effort when he won the Old Dominion Handicap, fourth on the program. R. Leonard had the mount and he rode with excellent had been a proper to the control of the control of the mount and he rode with excellent had been the control of t mount and he rode with excellent Judgment. Avoiding the early pace he rated in behind the leaders, reserving Sun Friar for a final effort in the stretch run. In the meantime Corporal and Twitter were out in front racing each other into submission. The result was that both weakened and the finish found both staggering. When Sun Friar charged on this pair in the final furlong there was no opposition and going to the front at the sixteenth pole he won going away, by three lengths from Corporal who managed to beat Twitter a head for the place.

Myvida was very fractious at the mystad was very tractious at the post and in one of her lunges she unseated her rider and in another collided with the assistant starter knocking him flat. Penalo stood in the stalls when the barrier was sprung and refused to break.

Another favorite failed in the sixth when Grand Bey ran last in the field of 14 platers. Intrepid won the race by a half length from Stage Struck, with Friedjof Nansen, second choice, third.

Aster, paying better than 8 to 1, took down the purse in the last race, beating out Frances Rock, a rank outsider, by a head in a long stretch duel. Blue Darter was another length and a half further back to take third money from Talladega by a head.

the outcome of some of these games may break the four-cornered tie which exists at present between the Mardfeldts, Northerns, Brookland and Palace A. C. for first place.

The Mardfeldts hold the edge with five victories and the Northerns are just a step behind, having won four. Rookland and the Palace Clubs are undefested, but the games will lessen that chances of winning the tite.

The one game which may decide everything will be the Northern-Mardfeldt clash. The winner will be in a very advantageous position to go through the season unbeaten, but the loser may be definitely out of the running. Another clash which will bring leading teams together will be between the Palace and Brookland Clubs.

PLANSKYS CHALLENGE.

GALLAUDET'S Gonzaga and Emerson Clash Today at Park STARS ARE

Dwyer, Byouk Among

ALLAUDET is none too confident of victory in its final game of the season against Bridgewater College at Kendall Green tomorrow. Four regulars, including two of the team's outstanding players, are definitely out of the game because of injuries. Dwyer, fast back, and Byouk, big end, are still nursing old injuries, while Peterson and E. Johnson must shun action as the result of hurts suffered last week.

While Ringle, Gallaudet's triplethreat, did not play last week, he will probably start tomorrow. If he, too, is unable to play, Gallaudet's chances of victory will be materially lessened.

INJURED

Those Not to Face

Bridgewater.

With some of Gallaudet stars definitely out of the game, odds on the game, which previously favored the District team, have shifted to the visitors.

Coach Hughes will probably use the following starting line-up: Moneghan and Yoder, ends: Pain and Grinnell, tackles; L. Johnson and King, guards: Ridings, center; Vieske, Hokanson, Marshall and Weaver, backs.

The schedule of the Washington City Basketball League, comprised of seven unlimited teams in Washington and suburbs, last night announced the playing schedule, naming December 1 as the opening date of the circuit.

Teams which will compete are Hystatwille Cuards, Wolts A. C., Y. M. C. A. Harriman Co. Company C. District Cuards, and Universal Auto Co. The Hystatwille and Wolts Teams will meet at the Eastern High School Gymnasium in the opening game. The schedule follows:

Tax Appraisal Shows That Sportsman Left Nearly $200,000,000 Estate.

$18,600,000 TO HOSPITAL

New York, Nov. 32 (A.P.).—How the late Payne Whitney, financier and apprixman, distributed his fortune of close to $200,000,000 became public today with the filing of the estate's apal' at the State Transfer Tax Bureau The gross value was $194,328,-51', with a net of $178,893,655.

The papers, prepared after months of work, showed that Mr. Whitney left nore than $45,000,000 in public beests, including gifts to New York Hospital, Cornell University, Medica School and Yale University. This em-praced also a trust fund of nearly $26, 000,000 for the benefit of charitable ducational, scientific and literary or-

Helen Hay Whitney, the widow— aughter of John Hay, former Secre-ary of State—received the largest sin-le share of the fortune. She will have, util death, the income from $5$,202.— 94, together with valuable real estate and personal property both in New ork City and at Manhasset, Long land.

Fore City and at Mannaset, Long Island.

Femporary life estates in $27,101,347 were left to Joan Whitney Payson (Mrs. Charles & Payson) and John Hay Whitney, daughter and son of the multimillionaire. They will have the income until they reach the age of 40 and will then receive the principal. At the death of Mrs. Whitney, the widow, the net of her trust fund is to be divided equally between them.

The largest bequest to an institution was an endowment of $18,632,176 for New York Hospital, which with Cornell University Medical School is planning a new medical center here. The Cornell Medical School got a bequest of $2,823,057.

Groton School Benefits.

Groton School Benefits.

Yale University, Mr. Whitney's aims mater, received a similar amount, while Groton School at Groton, Mass., where he prepared for college, got $1,129,222. The New York Public Library was bequeathed $6,210,725.

The executors themselves were rewarded for the months of work spent on the appraisal with a payment of $9,283,076.

In addition to the beneficiaries already named, Mr. Whitney left $2,823,057 to Charles S. Paison, a son-in-law, of Manhasset, N. Y.; to Samuel Adams Clark, an architect and an old friend, bequests amounting to $917,544. New York real estate worth $77,500 and a legacy of $500,000.

Finley Peter Dunne, creator of "Mr. Dooley," was forgiven a debt of $3,290. He also got a legacy of $500,000, and the appraisal mentioned gifts to Mr. Dunne, prior to the decedent's death, amounting to $917,644.

Other Bequests Listed.

Identical gifts and a similar legacy went to Eugene Hale, jr., a New York manneter. Other bequests were: $100,000 to Katherine B. Barnes, of Manhaset, a cousin; $50,000 each to Frank S. Rollins and Elmer D. Gault, employes of Mr. Whitney; $25,000 legacies to Clara L. Weithas and Edna M. Blackmar. Henry Allendord, L. Waterbury and Philip Boyer, friends of the financier, were forgiven respective debts of $1,000, $154,101 and $490,033.

For many years the aportsman was a nnancier. Other bequests were: $100,000 to Katherine B. Barnes, of Manhaset, a cousin: $50,000 each to Frank S. Rollins and Elmer D. $158,101 and $490.033.

For many years the aportsman was a director of the Westchester Racing Association and a noted racing man. Shortly before his death however, he disposed of his better known thoroughbreds to his brother and wife.

It was the largest estate ever filed at the State tax appraiser's office here.

Mr. Whitney inherited between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000 from his father, William C. Whitney, the traction magnate.

State and Federal taxes, it was estimated, would total between $20,000,000.

In Style of Old West

Alamogordo, N. Mex., Nov. 22 (A.P.)
Stirring scenes of the old West were revived today when the sheriffs of Lincoln. Otero and Dona Ana Counties, with mounted posses, swung into the Sandreas Mountains west of Tularosa to search for horse thieves.

The fugitives, believed to number four or five, are alleged to have robbed several ranch houses, taking guns, ammunition, bedding and provisions for a month. Then they helped themselves to a number of the best horses in the neighborhood and fied to the mountains.

on Soviet Chiefs.

Officials of the State Department last night confirmed the report that Count Michael Karolyi, first President of the Hungarian Republic, has again been refused a vias to visit the United States. The application of Count Karolyi was referred to the department by the American Consul General in Paris. Officials here found no reason for changing the decision reached when the case was previously before them, so the Hungarian nobleman was again barred from the country.

In reply to questions, it was stated that the State Department has not yet been advised that the American Consul in Berlin has refused Obelenski and Myeshlauk. Soviet officials, visas to enter, the United States to seek financial aid for establishment of automobile plants in Russis.

However, if the consul has refused the Soviet officials visas his action will be approved, certainly as to Obelenski and probably as to his associate. Obelenski, according to information on file, has been active in the Communist Internationale, leaders of which have constantly supported revolutionary movements in other countries.

Coolidge's Teeth Found In Excellent Condition

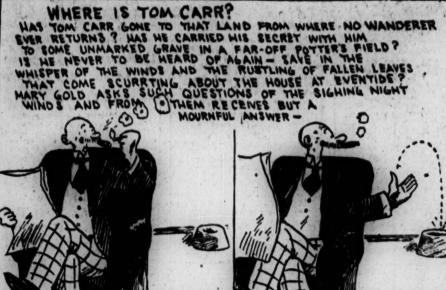

(Associated Press.)

President Coolidge yesterday had the satisfaction of knowing that no visits to the dentist are in store for him any time soon.

As a matter of routine he visited the Army dispensary and had his molars X-rayed. They were in excellent condition, Col. James F. Coupal, White House physician, said.

If you plan to buy a house it will pay you to consult the many offer-ings in the real estate classifications of The Post.

TOWARD TOP LEVELS Sale Issue

Liquid Carbonic 6s Again Feature, Soaring 10 Points. Andes 7s at New High.

FOREIGN LIST IRREGULAR

New York, Nov. 22 (AP.).—Trading slowly increased in volume on the bond market today as stock prices recovered their strength. Speculative issues were responsible for most of the belated activity, with a few convertibles parallelling the advance of their respective stocks. Buying apparently was discouraged by expectations of an increase in brokers' loans, realized after the close, although this influence was dissipated to a degree by the renewal of buying on the stock market. Total sales were $10,113,000.

Liquid Carbonic 6s again provided the feature, soaring 10 points to a new high price of 205 and recovering after a slump to 198. Anders Copper 7s also were lifted to a new high, at 220, but closed fractionally lower. Anaconda 7s moved up 6 points to a level just below the record price. Kayser & Co. 5½s advanced about 4 points to a new high at 130.

Olis advanced in sympathy with oil stocks. Each American Services. New York, Nov. 22 (A.P.) .- Trading Oils advanced in sympathy with oil stocks, Pan-American Petroleum 6s stocks, Pan-American Petroleum 6s reaching a new top at 100, up more than 2 points. Pathe Exchange 7s, Cuba Cane Sugar 7s, the Wickwire Spencer Steel Issues, both of which established new needs at levels 2 points. Spencer Steel issues, both of which established new peaks at levels 3 points or more higher; U. S. Rubber-5s and Chicago Union Terminal 4½s were active at higher levels. Public Service of New Jersey 4½s were among the few strong utilities.

Rails were irregular, with first-grade issues chiefly in demand. Hocking Valley 4½s advanced 1½ points on reports of improved earnings, but other gains were fractional.

The foreign list was irregular, with activity again centering on the Italian industrials. U. S. Government obligations were inclined to heaviness.

BALTIMORE MARKETS.

Baltimore, Nov. 22 .- Closing prices:

New York, Nov. 22 (A.P.).—The curb market staged an impressive comeback today as a fresh flood of buying orders carried nearly two score issues to record high levels. Gains in most active issues ran from 1 to 5 points, with a few specialties marked up 10 to 25 points. Total sales crossed the 2,000,000 share mark for the third time.

Little apprehension was apparent over the brokers' loan statement.

RETIRING CURRENCY

J. W. McIntosh Is Guest of Honor at Dinner to Distinguished Gathering.

STOCKS MOVE FORWARD

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Joseph Wallace McIntosh, who resigned Tuesday as Comptroller of the Currency after ten years of public life in Washington, last night was honored by local banking associates, Government officials and friends in private life at a dinner given at the Carleton Hotel by R. Golden Donaldson, president of the Commercial National Bank. Col. McIntosh, President Donaldson; the newly appointed Comptroller of the Currency, John W. Pole, and Roy A Young, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, received guests numbering an even 100 in the patio of the hotel prior of the dinner, which was served in the red room.

Addresses of tribute echoed the expression of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who, in acknowledging receipt of the comptroller's resignation, cited the constructive efforts that in four years have placed the banking situation on the present stable basis, and the "sympathetic attitude" which the retiring official has shown toward the tiring official has shown toward the banks in helping them work out their ifficulties,

In addition to the guest of honor,
Mr. John W. Pole, and Mr. Young,
those who attended the dinner were:

Mergenthaler Again Leads.

Mergenthaler Again Leads.

Led again by Mergenthaler Linotype, the trend of stocks was upward in relatively heavy trading on the Washington Stock Exchange yesterday. Opening at 103, more than a full point up, the stock rose to 103½ after call, 100 shares changing hands at the latter figure. The rise may be attributed to the company's exceptional earnings atatement, and to the recent extra dividend declaration.

Other issues which advanced yesterdal were Potomac Electric 5½ per cent preferred, which moved to 108½ after opening at 108; Chestnut Parms Dairy preferred, which opened at 108½ after opening at 108; Chestnut Parms Dairy preferred, which opened at 108½ are preferred, which sold at 91¾, and Lanston Monokyne which sold as high lanston Monokyne which sold as high Federal Reserve note circulation de-Federal Reserve note circulation de-clined $15,400,000, member bank re-serve deposits $18,400.000 and Govern-ment deposits $8,300,000. Total bills and securities were $43,600,000 below the amount held on November 14. The system's holdings of Treasury notes in-creased $4,200,000, while holdings of United States bonds decreased $300,000 and Treasury certificates $200,000 Hold-ings of discounted bills decreased $5.-800,000 in the Richmond district.

"Long Pull" Position Favored. The present situation in the security markets can be attributed in far greater measure to a fundamental transition than to excessive gambling, according to Gage P. Wright, president of the Business Economic Digest. "Competent analysts do not question that there is much unintelligent buying of securities," he holds, "but the prevailing opinion among authorities whose views are entitled to the most substantial weight is that the long pull position in Better Northeastern Conditions Noted by Leaders at Loan Board Session.

VAIDEN IS PESSIMISTIC

(Associated Press.)

(Associated Press.)

Improvement to some extent in general farming conditions in the Northeastern section and several Mississippi Valley States was reported yesterday by presidents of two Federal land and intermediate credit banks in a conference with the Federal Farm Loan Board. Another bank head, Vulosko Vaiden, of Baitmore, whose district comprises Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, sounded a note of pessimism, however, declaring that farmers believe "the price of land and farming conditions can not get worse, and therefore must get better."

"The farmers as a whole," he said, "are believing that some special legislation may be enacted by Congress that will stimulate the price at which they must sell their products."

Vaiden's report also said that in his district conditions were good in some sections but discouraging in others.

Vaiden's report also said that in his district conditions were good in some sections but discouraging in others. Unfavorable weather conditions and low prices had discouraged some farmers, but in the dairying, cotton and peanut growing sections the farmers were in better financial condition than for several years.

Disabled Vets' Society Warns of Fake Agents

The Disabled American Veterans Association yesterday told District officials that they want them to be chary of persons seeking alms or contributions for the aid of war veterans in the name of their association.

Permits for solicitation of alms or sale of flowers or similar objects on the street must be had from the Police Decree of the police of th Pegmits for solicitation of alms or sale of flowers or similar objects on the street must be had from the Police De-partment, and the Disabled American Veterans Association asked Maj. Edwin B. Hesse not to grant a permit to any person seeking it in the name of dis-abled war veterans until he has con-sulted the association.

Mr. Gibson was the American delegate at the two previous sessions of the commission, which is endeavoring to prepare a convention for submission to a general conference dealing with the manufacture of arms and ammunition.

$1,872,000 Lighthouse Improvement Is Asked

(Associated Press.)

(Associated Press.)

A recommendation for expenditure of $1.872,000 during the coming year in improvements and additions to lighthouse property was made yesterday by George R. Putnam, commissioner of lighthouse service, in his annual report.

The construction of new vessels will take up $1,350,000 of this estimated total and will result in the stationing of new lightships at two places on the North Atlantic Coast, at Brenton Reef, and at the Hen and Chickens Reef, off Massachusetts, while a third ship will be used to do relief work off the Rhode Island and New York harbors. Recammendations included $20,000 for improving navigation aid along the Potomac River Channel, Md.

Investment Man Ends Life; His Firm Involved

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 22 (A.P.)—
Five minutes after he had arrived at his office today, Walter S. Miller, vice president of Kuechle & Co., an investment concern, shot himself. He died a few hours later.

Kuechle & Co. had been reported in difficulties for some months, but its attorneys said the affairs were being straightened out and the company had already applied to the State railroad commission for restoration of its permit which was canceled.

DAUGHTER SLAYING VERDICT IS DEATH IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Watchman Calm When Doom Is Pronounced by Jury, but Makes Protest Later.

DELIBERATIONS FIX FATE IN HOUR AND 35 MINUTES

Malicious Strangling of Girl Charged, Prosecutor Says Jealousy Was Cause.

Franklin Ellsworth Smith, stoop ildered, half blind, 50-year-old night watchman, was condemned to death by a jury yesterday in the District Supreme Court for the murder of his daughter, Bessie L. Smith, 19 years

Standing erect, his head held high the puny watchman evidenced not the least sign of emotion when the verdict was announced; but a few moments later, while being conveyed to the District Jail, where he soon will occupy a cell in "murderers' row," he said to his

"It was an unfair verdict. It should have been second degree."

The watchman's fate was sealed at murder. Seventeen minutes later they filed into the courtroom, Benjamin F. Bailey, foreman of th jury, announced in a clear voice that Smith had been found guilty of mur-der in the first degree." The verdict was based on the third count of the three-count murder indictment, which charged the watchman with premeditated malice murdered his daughter in their apartment home at 1151 New Jersey avenue northwest, on September 26, by strangling and suffocating her.

Pointing out that the watchman at one time was an industrious book-keeper, who gained promotion after promotion while at work in a local deartment store and a bank, Collins de-

District Atto

Cerimele declared that Smith has uttered but few words during the trips he has made from the jall to the courthouse during the trial.

Cerimele said that one of the lengthlest speches the watchman has made was on the return trip to the jail yesterday, when he denounced the death verdict as "unjust" and declared be thought it should have been a finding of second-degree murder. The watchman did not believe he would be adjudged insane, the marshal said.

The first-degree verdict was the second obtained by Collins. Two years ago, the prosecutor convicted Phillip Jackson, colored, the first man to die in the electric chair here. Jackson assaulted a white woman in the Capitol grounds.

New Trial to Be Sought.

The watchman's defender, E. Russelly, declared his intention of filing motion for a new trial within the ridays prescribed by law and, that ling that, he would appeal the verton higher courts.

The jury was given the task of deling Smith's fate at 12:45 o'clock, the jury was given the task of deling Smith's fate at 12:45 o'clock ef Justice Walter I. McCoy instructing jurors that four verdicts were sible from the evidence of the case little-defendence of revision, Dale said yesterday that he did not think there would be enoug murder, not guilty by reason of insanty and not guilty.

The elements that constitute the two degrees of murder were explained in detail to the jury. Chief Justice McCoy also instructed the jury shall be included in the jury that elements of passion, depravity, wickedness or emotional madness alone were not sufficient to justify a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity.

In his final argument to the jury william H. Collins, the prosecutor, seemed to dwell more on a plea for a second-degree verdict than for the death penalty. He declared that Smith was an abnormal man, but not insants, and hammered at the defense's plea of insanity.

Characterizing the watchman as the "vilest man in the District of Columbia," Collins charged the "motive for the killing stands out in this case plainly."

Mashington theatergoers who turned out early esterday and who succeeded in obtaining tickets for the advertised Sunday opening will be given an opportunity, it was said, of turning in their tickets for later performances of the play. The following statement was issued at the theater:

"On account of the enormity of the "Whoopee" production, loading and unloading of the six baggage cars, the five-hour railroad jump from Newark, including the absolute time required for the proper setting of the gigantic and extraordinary heavy scenery, it has become the regretful duty of Mr. Ziegfeld to announce the postponement of the opening night of "Whoopee" until Monday night instead of the advertised opening Sunday night. All holders of tickets for the Sunday night performance are requested to call at the box office of the National Theater to exchange tickets."

Assistant Postmaster Glover came out for a "real" municipal airport for Washington after sounding a warning it rested with the War Department whether Washington would be continued as a stop on the air mail. He said if the temporary use of Bolling Field was taken away by the Secretary of War the air mail would have to go to Baltimore.

Assistant Secretary of War Davison pointed out that the use of Bolling Field for an air mail stop is only temporary, granted on the condition that his department was convinced Washington would set about getting an adequate airport.

Representative Gibson said that, while he could see a new group of fiscal relations crop up between Washington and Congress for innacing an airport, he pledged his cooperation in getting necessary legislation passed.

The Vermont representative was followed by Senator King, who declared there is an imperative need here for an airport, not only from a civilian viewpoint, but from a military and naval one as well.
